1. Background

The EU4Culture project¹, funded by the EU² and implemented by UNOPS seeks to revitalise the cultural heritage sites damaged by the November 2019 Earthquake in Albania and to contribute to the recognition of cultural heritage as a driver of Albania's sustainable development. A specific focus is on boosting tourism and local economic development in the areas surrounding the project sites³.

The project is implemented in collaboration with the Ministry of Culture of Albania and will ensure the close involvement of the wider cultural heritage community through actions that include restoration of infrastructure damaged by the November 2019 earthquake combined with grants being made available to local development actors. This approach will also be of clear benefit to local small and medium scale enterprises in the tourism sector.

The project also seeks to increase awareness amongst the Albanian public on the importance of cultural heritage in the economic progress of Albania. The project is planned to last 45 months while the overall investment is planned to capture a figure of 40 million EUR.

The Project observes the principles of good governance and inclusion as cutting across the main objectives and works towards achieving three main results:

- Result 1: Significant cultural heritage monuments and other cultural buildings or sites are physically rehabilitated, improving the cultural and economic well-being of Albanian society.
- Result 2: Economic and local development supported through cultural heritage revitalization and valorisation, and improved capacities for its safeguarding, management, and promotion
- Result 3: Improved awareness on the role of natural and cultural heritage in building a better future for Albania, through measuring and communicating the impact of culture for sustainable development

The direct beneficiaries of the EU4Culture are the communities in the targeted areas, domestic, regional, and international visitors, the Ministry of Culture of Albania, and the management authorities of regional and deconcentrated cultural heritage institutions, as well as those entities working in the vicinity of the targeted cultural sites including local small and medium scale enterprises, civil society organisations (CSOs) and individual practitioners.

The final beneficiaries are the local inhabitants of the municipalities around the project sites and the citizens of Albania at large, who will witness the revitalization of critical cultural heritage sites and monuments and increased economic activity in the areas of revitalization.

² This action is a part of the European Union Special Measure that is focused on the support for the recovery and reconstruction efforts, particularly for cultural heritage buildings as well as cultural monuments, the education sector, and potentially other public buildings, in support of general social and economic recovery, also considering the aggravating circumstances of the Covid-19 pandemic emergency scenario.

³ As of this date, the cultural heritage sites approved for interventions of revitalisation include the Mosaic at the National Historic Museum façade, the Ministry of Culture, the National Gallery of Arts, the National Library - the Fund, the Albanian National Film Archive, the Technical archive of IKTK, the National Puppet Theatre and the Institute of the Formerly Persecuted in Tirana; the Church of St Anthony in Rodon, the Hamam building, the Archaeological Museum, the Castle of Ishmi and a Building next to Fortification, the Former Archbishopric, and the Venetian Tower in Durres; the Ethnographic Museum and Kurcaj's bridge in Kruja; the Ethnographic museum in Kavaja; the castle of Bashtova in Rrogzhdina; the Monastery of the Church of Rubik in Mirdita; and the Church of St Mary ruins in Kurbin.

2. Justification

Museums and other cultural heritage sites have increasingly been seen as drivers of community regeneration and thus a source of revenue and new jobs. Cultural heritage and a vibrant creative economy can increase territorial attractiveness for talent and investment. At the same time, the role of culture in spurring innovation as well as supporting well-being, health, life-long learning, and the creation of social capital have become prominent⁴.

Albania has an exceptionally rich and varied cultural heritage, but much of the built heritage needs conservation and better protection. Intangible heritage is also threatened by increasingly rapid change. The earthquake of November 2019 added an additional burden to the already fragile situation. The Ministry of Culture's strategy seeks to place cultural heritage at the heart of Albania's public life and sustainable development. Enhancing local and national stakeholders' and communities' understanding of the role that cultural heritage can play in supporting sustainable development is one of the barriers that this sector is facing.

Tourism is considered a strategic sector for growth and employment and, as such, an important means through which Albania can achieve sustainable long-term growth and competitiveness, while safeguarding the environment. In the few years before Covid-19 pandemic, the number of inbound tourists in Albania saw a steady increase. In 2019 the share of the tourism industry in Albania constituted 27% of GDP thus emerging as a significant contributor to the national economy. After the decline in the numbers of foreign and domestic visitors caused by the global Covid-19 restrictions on travel during 2020 and 2021, tourism figures of the first 8 months of 2022⁵ indicate a rebound to pre-pandemic levels.

The tourism sector faces its challenges - seasonality being one of them - with most of the demand concentrated in the summer months. Expansion and integration of tourism with a variety of attractions, activities, and services, among which those based on the rich cultural heritage and expression, would contribute towards diversification of the offer and enhancement of opportunities for longer tourist stays and increased spending. However, the environmental damage caused by uncontrolled tourism growth, especially in the coastal areas, is an indicator of the poor understanding of responsible environmentally-friendly tourism and unfairly balanced socio-economic opportunities.

One of the aims of the project is to foster opportunities for local communities to engage with cultural heritage sites through activities that generate jobs and economic growth. While such industry has significant potential to develop, some of the project sites in Albania are either still disconnected from functional and touristic areas which can become consumers of cultural products, or not located in proximity of inhabited areas. Therefore, actions that provide social and economic growth opportunities to cultural and creative sectors (CCS), including development of the necessary links to tourism and other productive sectors are indispensable. They constitute interventions which contribute directly to strengthening sustainability of sector operators, introduction of new products, services and a combination of revitalisation of traditional with innovative approaches to cultural heritage, linkages to other productive sectors and expansion into new markets.

The Call for Proposals Recraft the Past: Build Up the Future 2 succeeds an homonymous Call launched in February 2022 whose selected projects are now under implementation.

3. Objectives

Overall objective: To develop local socio-economic and cultural opportunities for the communities surrounding cultural heritage sites affected by the earthquake of November 2019 through projects supporting cultural heritage revitalization and improved capacities for its management, promotion, and environmentally friendly cultural innovative tourism initiatives.

Specific Objective 1: To create and develop socio-economic growth opportunities for local communities by establishing sustainable linkages between organisations operating in the Cultural and Creative Sectors, near cultural heritage sites, and through environmentally friendly and innovative forms of tourism.

Specific Objective 2: To raise and enhance public and institutional awareness on the role of cultural heritage as a driver of sustainable socio-economic development by promoting growth, inclusive and gender sensitive models.

4. Scope

This Call for Proposals is focused on projects implemented by any non-profit organisation which demonstrates capacity and expertise to operate in the Cultural and Creative Sector. Joint applications from two or more non-profit local and community development organisations⁶ that propose to enter into operational partnership with each-other are also acceptable. The partnerships are intended to promote joint collaboration, good governance and transparency.

All actions under this Call should contribute directly to the attainment of the overall objective through activities that aim to achieve any or both specific objectives, i.e. (1) creating and developing socio-economic growth opportunities for local communities by establishing sustainable linkages between organisations operating in the Cultural and Creative Sectors, near cultural heritage sites, and through environmentally friendly and innovative forms of tourism and (2) raising and enhancing public and institutional awareness on the role of cultural heritage as a driver of sustainable socio-economic development by promoting growth, inclusive and gender sensitive models.

The territory where the actions will take place is defined as any or a combination of these 6 municipalities of Albania: Tirana, Durrës, Kavaja, Kruja, Rrogozhina and Mirdita. The actual cultural heritage institutions and the organisations operating in the Cultural and Creative sector benefiting directly from the proposed projects should be identified to the clearest extent possible.

The Call will support initiatives that contribute to the well-being of communities and may create broader social impact. The initiatives including, but not limited to, implementation of social inclusion activities that generate social cohesion such as addressing the needs and providing support to the vulnerable groups (youth, women, minority groups, people with disabilities, etc.), fostering and promoting gender equality, activities contributing to the protection of the environment, as well as the implementation of good governance principles (efficiency, transparency, accountability, citizen participation and anti-discrimination) should be recognised within the project.

⁶ Local and community development organisations comprise any not-for-profit, non-political, civil society organisation focused on supporting local communities, local administration, and reviving the economy

4.1 Themes

Traditional arts and crafts are an important part of our traditional culture, forming an artistic expression of history and cultural customs of populations across centuries. As such, carrying forward the traditional art and cultural expressions constitutes an important historical duty. This Call for Proposals is purposely and primarily themed after the provision of support to the enhancement of artisanship skills and development of traditional crafts inspired by the EU4Culture project's sites of cultural heritage. Nevertheless, the thematic scope of eligible activities is much broader.

The main theme is:

- ★ Support to preservation and restoration of artefacts, revival of old and waning crafts, and encouragement of new and innovative ways of creating crafts that are inspired by Albania's cultural heritage

Other themes include:

- ★ Support to site-specific cultural tourism entrepreneurship,
- ★ Creation of innovative digital products for visitors and information centres,
- ★ Innovative cultural and creative activities which are carried out by youth organisations (dedicated funding frame for youth organisations)

All proposals are expected to clearly demonstrate their potential to engage the surrounding communities through employment opportunities. A special focus in the evaluation of proposals that will be submitted in the course of this Call will be kept on actions that demonstrate gender sensitivity and measures for gender balance, youth inclusion and inclusion of minorities and other disadvantaged persons living in the areas around project locations. All proposed activities are expected to clearly relate to, derive from or be inspired by specific sites of cultural heritage.

4.2 Examples of Eligible Activities

The following are examples of activities that will be considered with priority for funding under this Call. However, other activities may be proposed which, if meeting the overall and specific objectives, will also be taken into consideration:

- Creation of, equipping with, and maintaining digital products for visitors including, apps for children's learning, digital performances, digital archives, etc.),

- Support to strengthening of capacities of cultural heritage institutions including capacity building of professionals and creation of new temporary and periodic venues and/or new activities, exhibitions and spaces within the existing sites,
- Establishment, organisation and production of cultural events (including local fairs and festivals, etc.) directly inspired by tangible and intangible cultural heritage on the sites of interest such as exhibitions of unfamiliar and untold stories, events for minorities' cultural expressions and cultural history, practical demonstration of artisans' crafts, etc.

The proposed projects should also include activities which contribute to the enhancement of opportunities and capacities for the target institutions, for the organisations operating in the Cultural and Creative Sectors and for the local communities but not solely for the benefit of the implementing local development organisations⁷.

The project applications should reflect the internal capacities of the applicant organisations, and of the partner organisations, when implemented in partnership, to conduct the proposed activities. The applicants have the possibility to award contracts to subcontractors for execution of clearly defined tasks and these shall be selected through a transparent selection process. However, the implementation mechanism should be defined and clearly proposed in the project application.
